Introduction

At LDG International, we believe that fragrance is more than just a scent – it's a powerful expression of identity, emotion, and memory. Established in 1984 by the late Shri Mohanlal Panachand Gandhi, a true connoisseur, visionary, and seasoned expert in the art of perfumery, LDG International has been synonymous with excellence, innovation, and tradition in the fragrance industry for over four decades. Shri M.P. Gandhi's legacy lives on through the leadership of his son, Mr. Jaideep Gandhi, who actively manages the company today. A distinguished entrepreneur and philanthropist, Mr. Gandhi brings over 40 years of experience in chemistry and chemical engineering to the helm of LDG International. After earning his Bachelor of Technology in Chemical Engineering from Bharti Vidyapeeth in Pune in 1990, Mr. Gandhi pursued his passion for perfumery, further refining his expertise with a specialization in Chiral Analysis in Perfumery in 2018. Inspired by his father's devotion to the craft, he continues to innovate and uphold the family legacy. Mr. Jaideep Gandhi is also an active member of various Indian and international associations, including the notable Fragrances and Flavours Association of India. He served as President of the association during the 2023–2025 tenure, contributing his vast knowledge and leadership to the growth and direction of the industry.

LDG International has grown from a humble background and a team of just four to a thriving organization of over 100 members. Our offices and factories now span three strategic locations, housing more than 7,000 active ingredients and maintaining over 200 metric tons of inventory. We use a combination of manual craftsmanship and automated precision to strike the perfect balance between human expertise and mechanical accuracy. With the industry's finest blending and dosing robotic machinery at our disposal, we consistently produce exceptional fragrances with unparalleled consistency.

At LDG International, we specialize in crafting exquisite fragrances that capture the essence of elegance and individuality. We blend the finest perfumery compounds, premium solvents, and high-quality packaging materials to deliver products that delight the senses and inspire confidence. From concept to creation, our meticulous manufacturing process ensures consistency, safety, and sophistication.

Our collections are a harmonious blend of tradition and innovation, designed for those who seek the extraordinary in every drop. Whether you are a retail customer or a business partner, LDG International promises unmatched quality, creativity, and a commitment to excellence.

Quality Control

At LDG International, quality is not just a benchmark—it is the foundation of our craft. With decades of expertise in the fragrance industry, we have built a comprehensive Quality Control (QC) system that ensures every product we deliver meets the highest international standards for safety, consistency, and excellence.

Our QC process begins at the source. Every raw material—whether it's a perfumery compound, solvent, or packaging component—is rigorously tested for purity, authenticity, and compliance with industry norms before entering our production cycle. We maintain a robust library of over 7,000 active ingredients and conduct detailed fingerprinting to validate each component. Throughout the blending and bottling processes, we implement stringent in-process quality checks using both traditional lab techniques and cutting-edge technology, including chiral analysis and gas chromatography. Our lab is equipped with cutting-edge quality control and monitoring instruments, including a fully automatic GC-MS (Gas Chromatography-Mass Spectrometry) system, polarimeters, viscometers, calorimeters, and other precision analytical tools. These sophisticated machines allow us to accurately analyze, monitor, and ensure the integrity and consistency of our products at every stage of the production process.

LDG International's dedicated QC laboratory is staffed by highly trained chemists and perfumers who monitor parameters like color, viscosity, refractive index, and pH levels. Every batch is sample-retained and fully traceable to facilitate ongoing review and customer assurance.

We also conduct environmental and microbial testing to ensure that our production environment is as pristine as the scents we create. Automated dosing and blending machines are regularly calibrated to eliminate human error and uphold the integrity of our formulations.

Our commitment to quality extends beyond the laboratory. From the moment we source materials to the time our fragrance reaches the customer, each step is governed by meticulous standards and a passion for perfection.

At LDG International, we don't just create fragrances—we guarantee them
